[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, November 19, 1868.

Gen. Halleck's report recommends the establishment of military posts in the vicinity of the larger tribes of Indians in Alaska as a preventive of war, and the keeping of a vessel of war in those waters. A territorial government he regards unnecessary. He regards the mineral wealth of Arizona as being greatly misrepresented, and that its agricultural facilities would yield far more than its mines, and recommends that it, with three southern counties of California, be made a separate military department.

The U. S. Treasurer has instructed the Assistant Treasurers, and designated depositories, to withdraw from circulation all badly mutilated or de aced notes. Also all fifty dollar notes, the latter having been extensively counterfeited, and all convertible legal tender notes issued under the act of February 15th and July 11th, 1862, the time for the conversion of which has long since expired.

The following Internal Revenue appointments were made to-day: Storekeepers—Alex. McConnelly, Chas. F. Thiel, Louis Slickwright, Eighteenth District, Ohio; Wm. L. Allison, Twenty-fourth District, Pennsylvania; Wm. Masser, Sixth District, Kentucky; B. A. McGaity, R. S. Lynch, Twenty-second District, Pennsyvania. Gaugers—Chas. H. Evans, Fourth District, Iowa; S. F. Townsend, T. A. Rentz, Second District, Minnesota. Supervisors—Delas P. Southworth, Eastern Judicial District of Pennsylvania; S. P. Dutcher, Southern and Eastern Judicial District of New York; John N. Barbour, District of Massachusetts. These appointments complete those for the districts that have been made. The remaining districts are, first, New Jersey; second, California, Nevada, Utah and Arizona; and third, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Wisconsin. The salaries have been fixed at $2,500, with the exception of Mr. Marr, of St. Louis, who receives $3,000; Mr. Noah, at Nashville, $3,000; Mr. Safford, Montgomery, Ala., $3,000; Mr. Barbour, Boston, $3,000; Mr. Fulton, Baltimore, $3,000; Mr. Dutcher, New York, $3,00". The appointee at San Francisco will receive $3,000.

Mr. Seward denies that Great Britain has given up possession of the Island of San Juan, in the Pacific. He also denies that the President of Paraguay has put Americans to torture, as has been reported.

General Mechler, in his report on Public Buildings, suggest that Pennsylvania avenue have the Nicolson pavement laid down upon it.

Spencer Clarke has given up all hope of being reinstated in the Printing Bureau, and has gone home to New York.

E. B. Washburne has arrived here, and will remain all winter.

It is not probable that Mr. Dutcher, for Supervisor of the Southern District of New York, and Mr. Southworth, for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, will be confirmed.

The Postmaster General now uses thirty-six thousand miles of railway in the transportation of mails in this country.

The Dyer Court Martial drags along very slowly.

Quartermaster General Meigs reports that he has, by economy, during the past year, saved out of the appropriations nearly fifteen millions of dollars.

It is probable that the Congressional Globe will be printed at the Government Printing Office next year.

Secretary Schofield has returned from New York.

Secretary Seward's speech, made at Auburn just before the Presidential election, has been handsomely bound in pamphlet form, revised by himself, with the title "The Issues of the Hour."

It is said, on what seems good authority, that immediately on receiving Minister Washburne's report of his transactions in Paraguay, decided and effective instructions were given to our new Minister, Gen. McMahon, and also to Rear Admiral Davis, to proceed with an adequate force to ascension to vindicate the national honor and redress the wrongs said to have been committed by President Lopez on American citizens.

To-day, the contested election case, arising, under the Muncipal election last June, was decided by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. The petitioner was elected Assessor by twenty-five majority; but the Court said it appeared from unconverted proofs that eighty-five soldiers were registered and voted with no other residence in the precinct where they voted than the stay of soldiers under the command of a superior. All but one voted for the petitioner. This military vote was in part and as a whole, a flagrant fraud upon the citizens of the ward and of the city of Washington, made up as it was from the allots of men who never had a legal residence in the city or the ward, and who, by reason of their military occupation, could not acquire such residence. His views were concurred in by Judges Carter Fisher and Wylie. Judge Olin delivered a dissenting opinion in which he said he believed the Judges of registration had acted conscientiously and their judgement as to who were entitled to vote was conclusive. The petition was dismissed with costs. This opinion decides other cases.

LONDON, November 19.—The Right Hon. Benjamin D'Israeli made a speech to-day to his constituents at Aylsbury. After returning his acknowledgments for their unanimity in returning him to the House of Commons, he proceeded to justify the action of the Conservative party on the Reform question. He then defended the Government from the charge of extravagance. If the expenditures were large the Government could not be conducted cheaply; but he maintained that the financial management had been in every sense economical. He advocated the extension of education and favored the creation of a department of public instruction with a cabinet minister at its head; insisted that neither a compulsory educational system nor opposition to the new tax for educational purposes were in accordance with the opinion of the country. He then contrasted the foreign policy of the preceding with that of the present ministry. The relations which now existed with foreign powers were those of confidence and sympathy and all disagreements with the United States were now removed. He concluded with a discussion of the Irish question. The resolutions for the disestablishment of the Irish Church, introduced by the leader of the opposition, could not mitigate the evils of Fenianism. The troubles of Ireland were greatly exaggerated. Ireland had really progressed within the last twenty years more than England. Disestablishment was dangerous to the rights of property, and it would only serve to increase the discontent of the Irish people, while at the same time it would be sure to sever the connection between the state and religious principles.

Women's Rights Convention—Large Attendance—Resolutions Offered—Addresses—Officers Elected—Senator Wilson's Speech—A War of Words—The English Complimented.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, November 19.—There was a large attendance on the re-assembling of the Women's Rights Convention. Rev. James Freeman Clark advocated educating the sexes together. Addresses followed by Charles Barnard, Frederick Douglas and Hon. Frank W. Bird, expressive of sympathy in the movement to establish suffrage for women.

A number of resolutions were presented and laid over for discussion. The following embraces their general scope:

Resolved, That we invite the Republican party to drop the watch word of "Manhood Suffrage," and the Democratic party to abandon its motto of "A White Man's Government," and unite in an amendment to the Constitution of the United States extending suffrage to all men and women, as the inalienable birth right of every American citizen.

Rev. B. J. Bolles, of Springfield; Rev. D. A. Mason, Lucy Stone, and her husband, Mr. Blackwell, made addresses. The latter advocated forming a league to obtain and use the balance of political power to effect the enfranchisement of woman en masse.

Sam'l E. Sewell read a proposed Constitution and preamble, which is as follows:

Believing in the natural equality of the two sexes, and that women ought to enjoy the same legal rights and privileges as men; that as long as women are denied the elective franchise, they suffer a great wrong; the undersigned agree to unite in an association to be called the "New England Women Suffrage Association."

The object of the Association is declared to be, to procure right of suffrage for woman, and support such changes in the laws as shall place women in all respects on an equal legal footing with men. It was adopted.

He proposed a list of officers: President, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe; Vice Presidents, William Lloyd Garrison, Pauline W. Davis, James S. Clarke, Sarah H. Russell, Louisa Alcot, Lucy Goddard, Samuel E. Sewell, Lydia Emerson, Jona E. Hunkerson, H. K. Hunt, Mrs. Nathaniel White, L. M. Alcot and J. G. Whittier; Corresponding Secretary, Charles K. Whipple; Treasurer, Ebenezer Draper. This list was unanimously. Also an Executive Committe of fifteen was appointed.

William Loyd Garrison and Senator Wilson spoke and were warmly welcomed. Senator Wilson expressed himself strongly in favor of female suffrage, but he did not want that or any other question put forward till the southern question was fully settled. He had no doubt Congress would authorize the colored men to vote in every State, but as some good men doubted it, it was proposed the coming winter to put forward an amendment to the Constitution enforcing the political dogma that a colored man has the right to vote in every State. With twenty-six legislatures in our favor to only nine against us our success was probable. That done the female suffrage question would have a clear way and be aided by the success of the other, and it would stand a better chance of a speedy triumph, because men could not feel the same prejudices against their own sisters, lovers, mothers and friends as they had against the colored men. Therefore make the colored suffrage sure first before taking another step.

The evening session was crowded and remained so until 11:30 o'clock, owing to the war of words which arose. Fred. Douglas opposed one of the resolutions, claiming that it looked to deserting the negro in the hour of his need. He was aided by Mrs. Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Foster and others, while Mrs. English, Miss Gibson, Lucy Stone, Rev. O'Conner and others supported the resolution, which was finally adopted by a large majority. The other resolutions were adopted unanimously. Also, one from Mr. Garrison, congratulating their English friends on the progress of human rights everywhere. The discussion was very exciting, and applause, laughter and uproar marked its continuance. The Convention adjourned sine die.

MORTGAGES.

On the same day eight mortgages were filed of record

CLIPPINGS.

IN PERSON Motley, the historian, is about the average hight, spare and almost wiry, with a good head well set on vigorous shoulders, his dark hair and full beard and mustache widely sprinkled with gray, in the neighborhood of fifty years of age, with a clear voice and masculine utterance.

Two large bears were killed last week in Clarion county. One was shot not far from Strattanville, by a Mr. Hanhold, and weighed nearly four hundred pounds. The other was killed near Jones & Johnson's mill, in the upper part of Clarion township, and weighed over four hundred pounds.

MESSRS. CLIFF AND PRINCE, Republican members of Congress, from Georgia, assert that there was no protection at many of the polls for loyal men at the recent election, and that no fair expression of the people can be had at the election for Congressmen in February, without the presence of additional troops.

JUDGES James and Johnson, Commissioners appointed to prepare a codification of the United States statutes, are busily engaged upon their work. In all probability it will be three or four years before their labors are concluded. There are fifteen volumes which will be condensed so as to not make more than three.

IT IS stated that the result of the recent conference between committees of the American and Merchants' Union Express Companies, in New York, was an agreement to consolidate, and that all the preliminaries to that end were agreed upon. It is understood that the new arrangement goes into effect January 1st.

THE NEW YORK Evening Post, in calling attention to the statement that a Davenport centenarian voted for Washington, in New York, in 1788, says that this is a little too much of a brag, even for a forgetful old man, for New York did not vote at all at the first Presidential election, and she was the only State that did not.

GEORGIA did not elect Congressmen last week, although all the papers have credited the Democrats with a gain of seven members, the full delegation in the State. The election does not occur until February, but both parties made their nominations some time since. Florida, also, does not elect it representative until January.

ELECTION returns from Kansas disclose some rather remarkable features. For example: The Democrats have carried but three counties in the State, and them only by about 200 majority. One county, Ottawa, and several townships, are unanimously Radical. The Senate is entirely Radical, and the House will have but six Democratic members.

A MR. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN is exciting great attention in England by an ingenious steam invention. The engine is extremely simple—piston, crank, steam chest, &c., being dispensed with. It depends entirely on centrifugal force; friction is almost entirely overcome, and it will produce 1,500 revolutions per minute, with one-fourth the staem usually required, although the same amount of horse power is developed.

IMMENSE COFFER DAM.—A coffer dam built by the Government engineers engaged in improving the navigation of the Mississippi river over the rapids at Rock Island, is four thousand six hundred feet or seven-eights of a mile long. It runs parallel with the shore, is from eight to fourteen feet wide, and near one million feet of lumber were used in its construction. The Government has appropriated $480,000 for this improvement.

The Pittsburgh Gazette.

AUTUMN'S LATEST HOUR.

Steadfast still in his place
Autumn stands sadly alone, brown of the hand and the face.
The sickle across his arm is spotted with rusty red,
And the crown of poppies is torn that circled about his head.

Slowly he lifts his look:
All is a change around—a stain of clay in the brook;
The sombre fields are all reaped, and bare of the harvest sheaves;
In the orchards the last apples drop with sudden fall through the leaves.

The gardens are listless with cold:
The clustering lichens creep out in crowds on the wet black mold;
The lingering flowers droop faint as their faded petals fall;
And the mortar crumbles away in patches from off the wall.

The days are silent and still.
Through the dull thick air comes slow the shepherd's call from the hill;
Gray cloud-skies lower and gloom over all the country and town,
Except for a streak of red where the evening sun goes down.

The nights are bitter and black:
With mists for the riverside and mire for the meadow track.
The screech-owl hoots through the wood, the squirrel dreams in his lair:
And the brambles and fern grow white to the touch of the frosty air.

Autumn nigh swooning stands:
He watches with cloudy eyes the saddened change on the lands;
Till at last, without farewell—none knows if by night or day—
He lets fall his basket and hook and suddenly passes away.

Autumn is gone indeed!
Well, we all must go soon—leaf and flower and seed,
After the time to grow, the time to gather meet be—
Happy all they whose eyes are open both times to see

Quickens the pulses of Life.
Languidly throbbing, O Lord, with its burden of sorrow and strife:
Help it to profit by change as its seasons swiftly run,
And reap it full ripened at last when the ripening time is come.

—A one act opera, written by Glueck upon the occasion of the marriage of Marie Antoinette with the Dauphin, afterwards Louis XVI., performed at Versailles but never in public, is to be produced now at Prague. —In 1860 there were in Spain 886 convents, with 12,990 nuns, drawing a pension of nearly nine millions of reals, and 2,174 male officials who used up about four millions of reals more. Since 1860, this number and the pensions have increased immensely, and the new Spanish government by its suppression and secularization of the convents has not only gained a great deal of property, but has stopped up an immense hole in the Treasury.

ANOTHER of those terrible shocking scenes at the gallows was witnessed at the execution of Rufus B. Anderson in Nevada. The usual crowd surrounded the gallows, and the usual military force and attendant clergymen had been employed. After prayer on the platform the prisoner calmly addressed the spectators. Having finished, he stepped forward to the railing, and requested that the Deputy Sheriff should put the noose around his neck, and then shook hands with those on the platform. He then took his position on the trap, and his hands and feet were bound, and the noose was slipped over his head and the cap drawn over his face. At the signal the trap fell, and the wretched young man lay stretched on the ground, the knot having given way. There was a wild cry and a rush forward of the crowd, but the people were kept back by the guard. Anderson was carried on the platform, and the noose again adjusted around his neck, and the trap fell. The knot gave way again, and Anderson was prostrated insensible. He was carried up the steps of the platform and seated in a chair, his face wearing the pallor of the grave, from which he had been twice snatched. The rope was adjusted the third time. As the trap fell he swung free, and after a slight muscular movement for several minutes, all was over.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, November 19, 1868.

The general markets are quiet and devoid of any new or important features worthy of particular notice. There seems to be a little stronger feeling in Flour and Grain, but it is so slight as to be barely perceptible, and there is no improvement to note in the volume of business. And while the surface indicates a little more steadiness, the undertone continues panicky, and while hopes are entertained that the worst is passed, fears are still entertained for the future. There is no disguising the fact that these are, to use a common expression, shaky times, and there are many men who are in such a condition, financially, that unless relief is soon afforded, they will be forced to succumb. Already a large number of men all over the country have, by the force of circumstances, been compelled to go under, and as we have already intimated, unless there is a very decided change, and that, too, before long, others will be obliged to do likewise.

APPLES—Steady but unchanged; we can report regular sales at $2 to $4 per bbl, as to quality.

APPLE BUTTER—Unchanged at 70 to 75 in kegs, and 80 to 85 in crocks.

BUTTER—Is steady, with regular sales of Roll at 35 to 40c, for fair to choice.

BEANS—Sales of prime small White at $3,75 to $4 per bushel.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Is dull but unchanged, at 4½ to the trade, and 5 cts, in a retail way.

HOMINY—Is quoted at $6,50 to $7 per barrel.

CIDER—Unchanged at $6 to $10 per bbl.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, November 19, 1868.

The oil market was very much excited to-day, the sales of Refined in the aggregate being larger than during any preceding day in the history of the trade. As a matter of course it created a great commotion, particularly as it was so entirely unexpected, and prices advanced considerably.

CRUDE.

The Crude market, although firmer, did not sympathze fully with excitement in Refined, and there was but comparatively little done. Spot oil which was offered yesterday at 10 without finding many buyers, was quoted to-day at 10½ to 10¾, and not so much said in regard to gravity. We can report 1,000 bbls to be delivered between January and April, seller's option, at 10¾, and 1,000 January to June, same option, at same figure. Private telegrams from Oil City quoted at $4, which is an advance of about 50 cts per bbl.

REFINED

As we have already intimated, the Refined market was very much excited to-day, and what made the excitement more intense, was the fact that it was entirely unexpected. Spot oil opened up at 26 to 26½c, and sold from that up to 29c; late in the afternoon, however, the bubble burst, offers coming from Philadelphia to sell November or December at 28½c, and the later still, there were but very few buyers at any price. The reported sales aggregated about fifty-five thousand barrels, and we are cognizant of some ten thousand barrels sold, but not reported, so that there must have been at least, 65,000 bbls sold, and, perhaps, 70,000.

RIVER NEWS.

The river rose all day yesterday as well as the night previous, but was about stationary last evening, with seven feet and seven inches in the channel by the Monongahela marks last evening. The weather continues cloudy and cold with indications favorable for snow.

We have no arrivals to report aside from the regular packets. The St. Charles, from Cincinnati, was due last night, and will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The Armadillo, for New Orleans, departed last night with a very good trip, and engagements below. She had about four hundred tons of freight, and some fifty passengers.

The new steamer Arkansas, Capt. A. H. Shaw, will leave for New Orleans to-morrow positively.

The Leonidas, Capt. Ed. Evans, will positively leave for St. Louis to-morrow evening. Passengers and shippers can rely on this and act accordingly.

The staunch and reliable Glasgow, Capt. Andy Robinson Jr., will positively leave for Cincinnati and Zanesville to-morrow evening.

The Wild Duck Barges, Capt. Anawalt, will positively leave for St. Louis this evening, and shippers are requested to have their bills of lading in as early in the day as possible.

We have no further particulars in regard to the sinking of the McCullough.

The towboat J. S. Neal left for Louisville, with a tow of coal, as did also the Fearless, for Louisville.

—The circus boat Coosa is a circus boat no more. She is at Vicksburg doing nothing.

—The Mollie Hambleton, recently sunk at the mouth of St. Francis river, has been raised by the Underwriters.

—The fall hegira of the mountain miners to the States is now at its hight, as the large arrival of them at Omaha daily shows.

—The dredgeboat which has been at work recently at Henderson, has succeeded in taking out the coal fleet sunk at the foot of Second street.

—Capt. J. E. Montgomery has resigned the presidency of the the Mississippi Valley Navigation Company, and Dr. Watkins, of Memphis, succeeds him. Capt. De Haven is now in Louisville.

—At Buffington dam another installment of 3,000 yards of stone has been put in. It is thought that the work will require 10,-000 yards more to complete it. The cost of the dam when completed will be about $20,000.

—During the session of the Union Association of Steamboatmen, at Louisville, in September, a member representing one of the Upper Mississippi packet companies was asked how long the ruinous competition between the rival lines would continue. His answer was, "till one or the other of us gives up the river."

—In leaving the Louisville wharf the Cora S. performed a feat seldom attempted by steamers, viz: backed around and entered the canal. Boats generally go up to the island before turning, as the channel at the landing i s very narrow, and there is great danger of getting on the rocks in attempting the feat successfully performed by the Cora S.

—The Cincinnati Enquirer of Wednesday says: The Belle Vernon arrived from Pittsburgh with about three hundred tons, one hundred of which she discharged here, the rest being for Louisville and Evansville, for which points she left last evening. The Vernon has been announced as a regular Pittsburgh and Evansville packet, but it is said her officers are already satisfied the trade won't pay.....We clip the following from the same paper: The following are the returns of the passenger receipts of boats running from this port, at the Assessor's office, for the month of October, 1868: Silver Spray, $460; Abeona, $147; Darling, $366; Shamrock, $1,020; Havana, $116; Sam. J. Hale, $386; Anna, $2,057; Kate Robinson, $390; Melnotte, $1,686; Gen. Lytle, $3,145; United States, $5,849; Lady Grace, $605; Charmer, $1,239; for September and October; St. James, $2,169; Emma Floyd, $210; Mary Erwin, $1,241; Bostona, $4,161; America, $5,915; Telegraph, $2,670; Champion, $1,855; C. T. Dumont, $1,168; General Buell, $3,332; Alaska, $770; Minneola, $176; Westmoreland, $1,191; Robert Moore, $71; Lawrence, $1,763; Mary Ament, $974; Fleetwood, $2,171; Clifton, $652; Cora S., $876; Silver Moon, $847; Minnie, $470, and Edinburg, from August 1, 1866, to November 1, 1868, $17,641. This includes one-half of the cabin and all of the deck receipts.

If our object should be properly appreciated, we will endeavor to make the line work to the advantage of all concerned. GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 134¼.

THE FEDERAL GRAND JURY at Cleveland have found true bills of indictment against the Probate Judges of Sandusky, Ottawa and Holmes counties, in that State, and some half dozen active Democratic politicians, for complicity in the naturalization frauds.

HON. JOHN HILL, one of the Georgia Senators, was elected as a friend of General GRANT. His colleague, Mr. MILLER, who was claimed as a Democrat, also declares that he shall not oppose the new Administration, but will sustain it "as far as his duty will permit."

IN THE Third Congressional district of Pennsylvania, Mr. MYERS has served a notice of contest upon Mr. MOFFETT, the Democrat, to whom the Return Judges awarded a certificate of election. Mr. MYERS will have little difficulty in substantiating his claim to the seat in accordance with a clear majority of the legal votes.

THE TRACK of the Pacific railway will be laid to the mouth of Echo Canon before the close of this month. Already the gap between the two ends of this continental highway has been so reduced, that a gentleman of New York has twice crossed the continent since the 18th of October. Leaving Philadelphia at 8 P. M. that day, he visited Sacramento, and reached Philadelphia, on his return, at noon of November 9th.

OCCASIONALLY, a very slightly modified form of the slave-trade is maintained at one or another of our Gulf ports, by way of bringing in a cargo of Chinese Coolies. The latest arrival occurred at Galveston, and the event is announced in the local journals, as something new for Texas. They were shipped, it is said, direct to that port "under ordinary bills of lading, and are regarded by the firm as simple merchandise, to be sold for freight and charges."

ARKANSAS sends to us a report of an engagement between the State militia and a band of Ku-Klux outlaws in which the latter were severely punished. Let us hope that it may prove entirely true! The sooner these villains shall be persuaded that they have to deal with an armed and effective authority, instead of the cowardly intimidation of scattered negroes and the brutal assassination of individual citizens, the quicker those communities will have peace.

MR. SEWARD makes the important denial that Great Britain has yielded possession of the important Island of San Juan, in the North Pacific, to the American Government. This announcement will fall heavily on those who took stock in the truth of the report, and were congratulating themselves over the clever thing our Minister to England had accomplished. Another denial which Mr. SEWARD makes will afford more pleasure, and that is of the reported torture by the Paraguayan authorities of American citizens.

THE MEETING of the friends of Universal Suffrage, or more particularly of "Woman's Rights," held yesterday at Boston, was no unimportant gathering. Senator WILSON was present and, while expressing sympathy with the proposed enfranchisement of the weaker sex, urged a delay in the movement till the blacks secure their rights of suffrage in all the States of the Union. He gave out that a proposed amendment to the Constitution, having the latter object in view, would be introduced into the coming Congress for action, not without some hope of putting it through. Women should feel proud; their chances are looking up.

THE renewal of the stock-jobbing fight, known in New York as the Erie Railroad war, gives some reasonable hope that this notorious corporation will soon be forced to its inevitable fate—that of a hopeless bankruptcy. Its administration has been so conducted, by the various parties who have alternated in its control, as to lead the public to regard the entire concern as a gigantic swindle. The peculiar and enormous facilities, with which the "Erie" has aided in producing and perpetuating a chronic disorder of the leading money markets, are universally recognized and deplored, so that the final extinguishment of the present corporation has come to be desired as a public blessing. And we begin to look for its early enjoyment.

THE regular annual meeting of the Western Associated Press was held in Cleveland on Wednesday. Some thirty-three journals were represented. The financial report showed the receipts of the Association for the year ending October 1st, 1868, to have been $149,090.25 against disbursements amounting to $151,803.47 A large amount was paid for reports during the impeachment trial, and the sitting of the two National Conventions, which is included in these figures. The machinery of the organization, having for its object the collection and telegraphing of news to the journals embraced in it, was never in better working order than at the present time, and the utmost harmony and good feeling marked the meeting of representatives.

THE DESTRUCTION of the Ohio Central Lunatic Asylum, at Columbus yesterday, was a heartrending calamity, since it was attended with loss of life to six of the already unfortunate inmates, and with very serious detriment to the condition of the hundreds of survivors. However comfortably temporary arrangements may be made to shelter the rescued patients, the peculiar effects of the extraordinary excitement occasioned by this conflagration, will be likely to embarrass medical treatment for months to come.

Ohio had three Asylums, the Central, at Columbus, now destroyed, and the Northern, at Newburgh, near Cleveland, and the Southern, at Longview, near Cincinnati. And all of these very capacious institutions were already crowded to their fullest capacity. Suitable and immediate provision for the care of the hundreds who were so suddenly made houseless, will doubtless be made, but will severely tax the resources of the State.

PERHAPS the people of Western Pennsylvania should be under profound obligations to Messrs. ROLLINS and M'CULLOCH for certifying to us that this District of the State contains no citizen of capacity and integrity suitable for the post of Supervisor of the Revenue. Those gentlemen have seen fit to go entirely out of the District, and to confer the appointment upon an applicant from the other side of the mountains. The statement that the appointee will make a good officer is one that we have no call to dispute. But, in common with the entire community, we take issue with the Department upon the propriety of the importation. Western Pennsylvania has plenty of good citizens abundantly capable of filling the office, some of whom were applicants for it, each one of them possessing a better acquaintance with the field. Our community is not so entirely rebel, or so hopelessly ignorant and incapable, as to justify the Revenue officers in imposing its carpet-baggers upon us. Of course, these protests are to be unavailing now, but it is better to put them on the record.

A NEW YORK journal remarks, apropos to the eligibility of a Federal Judge in Virginia, that "the effect of the XIVth Constitutional Amendment upon the status of civil officers in the South is becoming an important question." That question may well be important when it involves not only all civil offices, including the entire Southern representation in Congress, but is destined to an illimitable influence in the reorganization of Southern society. We doubt if the child lives who will see the day when the last civil, social or political result of the Great Rebellion, and of its equally momentous pacification, may be regarded as a thing accomplished. The victorious upheaval to the surface of the simple principle of the Liberty of Man has been attended by a convulsion, which has shaken all the existing institutions in these States, and its traces will be distinguishable in all time to come. We have sometimes, indeed, half feared that even the wisest and most philosophical observers have fallen short of the due estimate of all the consequences which are to follow that amendment of our organic law. There are happily to be no more conflicts upon the principle itself, but how to deal justly with all the consequences of its adoption is likely to be a lasting element in our future policieal discussions.

THE oil producing business is almost as lively as ever in the rich regions of Pennsylvania. The price attained, approaching the true commercial value of petroleum as an article of trade, has induced many to engage in overhauling and operating old wells abandoned in the flush of excitement a few years ago. Wells producing five barrels per day now, are held to be worth as much, so far as profits are concerned, as those which yielded forty barrels when prices were away down almost to nothing. The business of producing being almost entirely removed from the hands of speculators or irresponsible fortune seekers, and placed in charge of cautious business men, who operate with only a desire to acquire a fortune slowly but surely, has put new life into the trade and ensured its growth and development. Pittsburgh, from its location, is necessarily the great oil centre of the world, and will continue to be so until such time as the precious fluid may be found in other sections in greater quantity than in what is known as the Venango regions. The operations on our wharf yesterday, published in another place, will give the reader a full idea of the immensity of the almost daily transactions in petroleum. The vast importance of this trade to our city, the employment it affords on handling and shipping, cannot be over-estimated, and yet we believe the business, in its legitimate character, is yet in its infancy, awaiting the process of time for its greater development.

WADE HAMPTON.

We cannot concur with some of our Republican friends in their commendations for Mr. WADE HAMHTON'S alleged declaration of surrender to the recent judgment of the people. A careful perusal of the "Address" just signed and promulgated by that first class rebel, as President of the Central Democratic Club of South Carolina, fails to disclose to us any proofs that he, or his friends, accept the situation as decisive for the coming time. On the contrary, he urgently entreats his "fellow-citizens to keep up their partizan organization to the end, that their principles may ultimately triumph. Moreover, he very pointedly enforces the duty of addressing future political action to the questions of immigration and agriculture, in order "to advance the cause of popular intelligence." All this sounds very well, leading not a few of our kind-hearted Republican optimists to think that the changed spots of the leopard give proof that his heart has been reconstructed from its naturally vindictive ferocity to a lamb-like charity and good-will toward all men. It really means everything else but that. It means precisely what the same truculent traitor so often urged during the canvass—the persistent proscription, by land-owners and employers, of that free labor, whether white or black, which declines to square its politics or its votes by the wishes of those Democratic aristocrats. This is really the gist of all the recent recommendations from HAMPTON and his Committee, and reveals only their inflexible resolution to continue their settled policy, of starving out any feeling of independence among their landless and laboring people. Such rebels as HAMPTON can only be reconstructed by a Providential power, and then they will be seen of earth no more.

HANDS OFF.

The repeal of the Tenure-of-Office Law is not contemplated by the majority, in either the present Congress, or the one which shall succeed it. The change in Administrations will only illustrate the difference, between an Executive who will heartily support and faithfully comply with the existing legislation and a President whose single aim, for three years past, seems to have sought only methods for evading and opposing the will of the people. Had GRANT been our President, instead of JOHNSON, this law might never have been enacted, since the need for it would not have been found to be imperative. But our experience will yet satisfy us that the measure, which originated in necessities of one sort, may very wisely be preserved to meet a widely different situation. Its continuance will ensure to President GRANT that protection—which no Executive could more heartily desire—against the importunities of a vast army of place-hunters, whose advance columns are already demonstrating upon the Capitol. The harmonious concurrence of the President and Senate will speedily ensure, in all the subordinate offices of the government, personal integrity, and ample capacity, with an unimpeachable and unsuspected fidelity, past, present and future, to Republican principles. Herein, the provisions of the Tenure Law will be found entirely compatible with the most discreet as well as the most effective reform of the public service in all its departments. Beyond that, the operations of the Law will be equally of benefit, in repressing that indiscriminate warfare of the "outs" upon the "ins," which never knows a truce, continuing through each Presidential term.

The Tenure-of-Office Law will not be found to stand at all in the way of securing a thoroughly and completely Republican administration of affairs, in all offices, from the highest to the lowest, while it will contribute very effectively in enabling us to retain all the officers who are worth keeping. Whatever may have been aggressive in the measure is to be become obsolete, while its more substantial merits will be still more completely vindicated by future experience.

THE Steubenville Herald prints an interesting reminiscence of events which, at the date of their occurrence in 1861, deeply concerned the people of Pittsburgh. Speaking of the meeting held to resist the removal of munitions of war from our arsenal at that time, and of Secretary STANTON'S action thereon, the Herald says:

At this meeting, if we remember correctly, the venerable Judge Wilkins, a Democrat and school-mate of President Buchanan, presided. Other prominent Democrats participated, taking an active part, Judges Shaler, Shannon, &c. The resolutions, taking exceptions to the removal of cannon and small arms South, under the exigencies of the hour, were prepared and read by Hon. Thomas Williams, and passed by the unanimous voice of the people, and forwarded to the President through Secretary Stanton, who, on reading the resolutions to the President, clinched the same, by the emphatic words—"Mr. Buchanan, you have traitors in your Cabinet!" A fact which Mr. Stanton informed the editor of this paper the President never fully realized before, and was so shocked that he threw up his hands as an indication of surprise and alarm.

I AM NOT SORRY to see the little lampmoth, Sunset Cox, come back to Congress. He is a character, amusing and shrewd, and sometimes carries heavy ordnance. Certainly he is the best Democratic Representative yet sent to us from New York city. Brooks is an obstinate New England Conservative, married into a first family, without nimbleness or humor. The rest are gamblers and ciphers. Sunset Cox is an audacious example of the beneficence of carpet-bagging. He found his school of politics declining in Ohio, and he gamesomely took up his wallet and started for New York. He has made money since he left Congress, and in the short space of three years has succeeded in reaching his political aspirations also. This latter implies no energy, it having been necessary merely to purchase, or take as a gift, the nomination from Mr. Pete Sweeney and Bill Tweed, or Tweedy. I fear that Cox will be impaled by such a constituency, and lose somewhat of that ancient independence which made him a nettle to "Gentleman George" Pendleton, and allowed himself to work secretly for the passage of the amendment abolishing slavery, while he openly voted against it. This is his record. His name stands against the proposition of the amendment, while his hand was raised in its favor. Some of Cox's achievements in Congress were more than brilliant. His speech against George Pendleton's British proposition to admit Cabinet Ministers to speak in Congress—supported by even so sensible a man as Garfield—was an annihilator. The act expired under his sarcasm and severe argument. To my belief Cox is Republican at heart in the harness of Democracy.—Washington Correspondence Chicago Tribune.

INFORMATION has been received from New Orleans that the official canvassers, who are Republicans, will probably throw out the entire vote cast in that city, at the late election, on account of the enormous frauds perpetrated and the violence used to keep Republican voters from the polls. The vote cast in the parish wards where this state of things did not exist will be counted. The effect of this course will be to give certificates of election to the Republican members of Congress, throwing the burden of contesting the seats on the Democrats, and bringing the whole subject before Congress,

Opinions of the Press.

[From the Philadelphia Bulletin.]

We have surveyed the field with careful deliberation, and while we recognize the good qualities of many of those who are likely to be named for this high office, we are satisfied that the man most likely to meet with the widest approbation of all sections of the State is the Hon. Galusha A. Grow.

[From the Ebensburg Alleghenian.]

Our next Legislature will elect a Republican successor to Hon. Charles A. Buckalew in the United States Senate. Who will be the man? The names of a large number of Republicans are mentioned in that connection—all good men and true, and worthy and well qualified to fill the office. But the name of Hon. John Scott, of Huntingdon, appears to loom up most prominently in the foreground. Mr. Scott is everywhere known to be one of the ablest men in the State. We heard a gentleman say, not long since, that he had "listened to all the best speakers of either party during the late campaign, and that John Scott was a head and shoulders above any and all of them in point of general ability." This is high, but merited praise. Then, he is a representative Republican—an advocate and exponent of the advanced principles of the great Republican creed. We trust the State will honor itself by electing Mr. Scott to represent it in the upper house of Congress. He will reflect a higher measure of credit upon the State in that capacity than probably any other available man.

[Correspondence in Franklin Repository.]

It is with great pleasure I see announced in various papers throughout the Commonwealth the name of Hon. John Scott, of Huntingdon, as the Republican successor of Mr. Buckalew in the United States Senate. He is one of the ablest lawyers in the State; is a strong, clear, convincing speaker, and thoroughly acquainted with State and national politics. An active and thorough Republican, he is also a man of spotless purity and high moral courage, proof against the enticements or pressure of wrong.

[From the Harrisburg Telegraph.]

[From the Franklin Repository.]

Governor Geary has, by his judicious and upright administration, won the regard of his people, and his splendid war record in the struggle against rebellion has endeared him to our citizen soldiers. If then they demand his re-nomination, as they doubtless will, it will be such an endorsement of the man and his services as scheming politicians never can make.

[From the Armstrong Republican.]

The friends of Hon. George V. Lawrence, of Washington county, propose presenting his name for the Republican nomination for Governor.

The Alabama Claims.

A Washington despatch of the 16th says:—"It is generally understood here that there has been a successful negotiation between Mr. Johnson and the British Government of the claims of the citizens of Great Britain and the United States against these Powers. What has been done about the action of the British Ministers in recognizing the beligerent rights of the South, is not exactly known, but it is understood that Mr. Seward is confident that his explicit instructions that this point should be decided, have not been disregarded by Mr. Johnson."

Another special says that Secretary Seward, in a recent conversation, spoke in rather strong and somewhat contemptuous terms of Reverdy Johnson's course in England, calling him more then once "that foolish old man," and saying that he could not conceive what had led him into the grave blunders he has committed. He also said, in response to an inquiry, that the President had not expressed any intention of recalling him.

The New York Evening Post says:—Rumor in Washington asserts that when the President gave his private orders to Mr. Reverdy Johnson, he was under the belief that the democratic party would elect its candidates, and would rule the country for the next four years; and that his object was to assist in the restoration of the rebel leaders to predominance in the country, by giving to their English allies the coutenance and moral support of this government through its Minister. Rumor supposes the President to have reasoned that under a democratic administration men who were prominent in the rebellion would govern in Washington, and represent the United States abroad; and that there would be something awkward in a person like Alexander H. Stephens, for instance, going to England as United States Minister, and meeting there suddenly those English leaders who have thought him and his cause inexcusably bad. It was, therefore, made the office of Mr. Reverdy Johnson to prepare, by his own cringing adulation of men like Roebuck and Laird, a smooth entrance for some person like Stephens, Mason or Pendleton.

It is asserted in Washington that Mr. Reverdy Johnson has kept up a special correspondence with the President upon this part of his duties; that the President supports him in those acts which have mortified the whole country; and that, finally, the Secretaay of State is kept in ignorance of the progress of certain of Mr. Johnson's negotiations, and was reeently obliged to confess this lack of information to the British Minister.

Sentence of a Bigamist--Two Wives and Two Sweethearts in Tears in the Court Room.

A gay young deceiver named Albert A. Whitehead was sentenced to imprisonment in the State prison, for the term of three years, on Tuesday, by Judge Troy, of Brooklyn, for having a wife more than the law allows. The prisoner was indicted upon the complaint of Henry Doubleday, a resident of Brooklyn, whom he had victimized to the amount of $500, and whose daughter he had married while having another wife in Buffalo. Mr. Doubleday, suspecting the character of Whitehead, made some inquiry in regard to his movements, and was surprised to discover that, for one of his years, being only twenty-one, he was a most consummate scamp. He found that he had married a girl in Buffalo named Mary Jane Tellman some months before marrying his daughter, and that he was engaged to two other girls. This morning the prisoner was brought up in the Court of Sessions for trial, and was not a little astonished to find his two wives and two sweethearts present. He concluded that it would be better for him to acknowledge his crime, and, without hesitation, he therefore plead guilty to bigamy. As soon as he was senteneed, the desire of the young women to see the man punished, if they had any, gave way and they burst into tears, which created quite a sensation in the court room. Both the wives are soon to become mothers, and sympathized with each other in their trouble.—N. Y. News.

GEN. GRANT, having been asked by a visitor whether it was true that he had directed his Private Secretary, Gen. Badeau, to destroy all applications for office, without showing them to him, replied: "Yes; some of the applications might be from good men, and I don't want to get prejudiced against them by their untimely haste." General Grant is importuned for money as well as for office. Every day he receives letters asking gifts or loans.

Earthquakes.

The foreign journals received by the last mail bring minute accounts of the distinct shocks of earthquabe which were felt at half past ten o'clock, on the night of October 30, in the west of England and in the southern district of Wales. In some situations the shock was so slight as to be hardly perceptible, while in the others it was more severe than the earthquake in England on October 6th, 1843. The most singular incident was the fact that persons in the upper chambers of houses did not perceive the motion of the earth so decidedly as those who were in the basements. Up to the time of the shock the weather was cold, but on the next day the thermometer ross 15 degrees. Another singular incident is the discrepancy as to the direction of the motion, some observers stating that the earthquake wave passed from north to south; others, from south to north, and a few from east to west. From these facts it may be inferred that the internal disturbance took place directly beneath a central spot in England, and that the effects were diffused in every direction. Signs of earthquakes in remote antiquity are still to be observed in the western counties of England and in Wales. Thus the geologists report that the old red sandstone of the district around Usk has been burst open by the upheaval of an enormous dome of silurian rocks, and that the rivers run along the tracks of ancient earthquakes. The eastern part of England, however, is not exempt from subterranean commotions. The remarkable earthquakes of 1185, by which the cathedral of Lincoln was destroyed, principally affected the eastern counties. The earthquake of 1275 was even more destructive, many of the largest churches in England having been demolished.

It is remarked that both of these earthquakes in Great Britain took place during one of the long periods of rest in the volcanic action of Vesuvius, which may be considered the vent of the European region of terrestrial disturbance. In proof that eruptions relieve the internal fires, it is stated that in the rest of Vesuvius, between 1049 and 1306, the neighboring Neapolitan volcanic vents were forced into activity, the lake crater at Solfatara breaking out in 1198, and the crater at Jochia, which had been dormant for 1400 years, vomiting out in 1302 a lava stream which flowed a distance of two miles to the sea. The English philosophers seem disposed to associate the recent earthquake with the declining activity of Vesuvius, and not the existence of a centre of disturbance in England. Of the various theories of earthquakes, the latest and most satisfactory is that of the Professor Rogers, who consider the producing cause as an actual pulsation of the internal molten mass of fire propagated in the manner of waves. The motion is created by the tension of elastic matter.

GEN. GRANT was "originally" a Whig, dyed in the wool. His father was an Ohio Whig, his brothers were Whigs, the whole family were Whigs of the Harrison-Corwin school of politics. The General was brought up a "Whig," and he remained a member of that party until it ceased to exist. He did not join the Republican party when it was first organized. He was a "Conservative" of Whig antecedents, from the introduction of the anti-Nebraska bill until the outbreak of the rebellion—hoping against hope that the sectional controversies might be compromised, and the unappeasable slaveholders appeased. The General dreaded a civil war, and was willing to do almost anything to prevent it; but when the die was cast, and the Southern Democracy raised its parricidal hands against the Union, he hesitated not a moment as to what was his duty, but at once tendered his services in defence of the Union. From that day forward he has been a consistent Union Republican, and has been as radical as the average of that party.

GEN. SHERIDAN, with 2,700 men, is in pursuit of about 7,000 Indian warriors, who are threatening hostilities on the Canadian river, in the Indian Territory. It is said that hard fighting is expected.

IS SICKNESS AVOIDABLE?

Thousands toss on sick-beds to-day who might have been well and hearty, had they taken due precautions for the preservation of that most precious of earthly blessings, a sound mind in a sound body. Sickness, to a greater extent than most people suppose, is avoidable. When the body is languid, the spirits depressed, and the nervous system unnaturally sensitive, it should be taken for granted that mischief is brewing. These hints and warnings, vouchsafed as such by a kind Providence, ought not to be disregarded. If they are slighted, as is too generally the case, the next thing may be a fever, a severe bilious attack, or some other form of acute disease. They indicate as clearly as if the intimation were given in articulate language, that the animal functions are disordered, and the system debilitated. Under these circumstances, the ONLY THING TO BE DONE IS TO REGULATE AND RESTORE, and the BEST REGULATING AND RESTORATIVE PREPARATION EVER USED FOR THE PREVENTION OF SICKNESS IS HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. In this way, bilious remittent fever, chills and fever, spasms, nervous paroxysms, violent attacks of indigestion, and all the ordinary epidemics, may almost certainly be averted. They are usually preceded by the symptoms described, and surely it is wisdom to forestall them by resorting to an antidote at once harmless, agreeable and invigorating. Most assuredly, it will soon dissipate the unpleasant feelings referred to; which, of course, is desirable, even if they were not likely to lead to something worse. The close of the Fall is usually accompanied by unhealthy fogs and violent atmospheric changes, and it is therefore a season when invigoration is particularly needed.

LET ANY ONE TRY A FEW BOTTLES OF DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE AND IT WILL ESTABLISH ITS MERITS BEYOND CONTROVERSY.

We feel, in whatever we say in its behalf, that we are conferring a benefit upon thousands of people who would be benefitted by its use. Take any large audience or gathering of people, pay attention for a moment, and see if one out of every ten is not afflicted with a cough. There is no cough without some difficulty of the throat or lungs—trifling it may be at the outset, but gradually growing more and more fearful, until the constitution, at last, is made to succumb to its ravages; and what would have yielded in the beginning to a few doses of medicine has become a fearful lesion, involving life itself. No one can be too careful at this season of the year, to the first premonitors of pulmonary disease, and when a remedy like the one we have named, is within the means of all, the salutary advice which we have given should not be disregarded. Sold at the great Medicine Depot, 140 Wood street.

THE report of Gen. George H. Thomas, regarding affairs in the Department of the Cumberland, gives a valuable official history of the Ku-Klux Klan. The report draws a gloomy picture of the present condition of affairs in Tennessee and Kentucky. "It is mortifying to acknowledge," says Gen. Thomas, "that the State and local laws, and the more powerful force of public opinion, do not protect citizens of the Department from violence. Indeed, crime is committed because public opinion favors it." This is the language of a dispassionate official report, from one of our most honored Generals.

A PARIS FASHION WRITER describes an evening costume, without a train, intended for a bride of the second chateau series: It is all white as orange blossoms, and made of thick gros grain, trimmed round with white chenille fringe, under rouleaus of satin. The bodice is high; over it is worn a Spanish figure, with chenille epaulettes, and satin buttons down the tight sleeves from the wrist to the shoulder; round the waist is rolled a white crepe de chine scarf, with white ends behind fringed like the skirt; white snowballs of chenille hang like bells over the chignon. The only ornaments to be worn with this are amethysts.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of the Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal in ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. The latter the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of the policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or its General Agents.

LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies with suitable endorsement, should be addressed To THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, November 19, 1868.

Gold opened lower to-day, and touched 134½, but the market remained firm at from 134¾ to 134⅞. The great ease in the money market—6 to 7 per cent. on call—enables parties to carry gold at a small cost, and even get a good interest at present; from the scarcity of the article, if the Government had not come to the relief of the bear operators it is likely that gold would have sold to-day at 138 or more.

The bond market is strong and higher, with a rising tendency for the next few days, and so long as money remains easy, the buying will continue, but with the semblance of a reverse in money matters, large sales may be expected; the experience of the last two weeks not being forgotten by those who thought a rise was inevitable.

Stocks are strong, and after the Erie corner is dissolved, it is expected that New York Central and Fort Wayne will undergo a similar process. The programme in Erie is, however, not yet finished, and the clique have determined to make another squeeze more severe than before, since they are in possession of nearly all the stock at a very low rate, mostly bought at from 136 to 139, and will thus resist any attempt of a great decline. Western shares, next to the clique stocks, are quiet. Express shares are remarkably firm, and a rise may be engineered in them at any movement.

Business appears more brisk.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL IN PROSE. Being a Ghost story of Christmas. By Charles Dickens. With illustrations. Published by Ticknor & Fields, Boston.

This elegant octavo volume is printed on tinted paper at the University Press, Cambridge, and contains about forty illustrations by S. Eytinge, engraved on wood by A. V. S. Anthony. The illustrations are superb and speak well for the genius of Etyinge, who has become, deservedly so, a great favorite. The volume is exquisitely beautiful, and by far the handsomest edition of Dickens's Christmas Carol ever published. The "Carol" is one of Dickens' best, and will long be a favorite among the numerous admirers of the great novelist. This great publishing concern has just issued several gift books of decided merit, and this work and "The Poetry and Complaint of Courtship" are without rivals as gift books.

CHARLES DICKENS' WORKS. With Illustrations by George Cruikshank, John Leech, and H. K. Browne. Dombey & Son, Old Curiosity Shop, Hard Times. Published by D. Appleton & Co. New York.

This edition of the great novelist is par excellence, both as it regards type, paper and binding. It is the same edition, excepting a much larger amount of reading matter and more illustrations, as that published in England, with descriptive head lines over each right hand page. The elegant manner in which each volume is bound renders it a desirable edition for Library purposes. Six volumes will complete the edition, and contains all the writings of the great novelist, and so cheap, only one dollar and seventy-five cents per volume or ten dollars and a half per set.

CAMEOS FROM ENGLISH HISTORY FROM ROLLA TO EDWARD II. By the author of "The Heir of Redclyffe." Published by D. Appleton, of New York.

The "Cameos" are woven together in a form that are calculated to interest young people, and in such a charming style that the history reads like romance. It is a gallery of pictures of persons and events, covering a period in the history of England, which is both interesting, and instructive. Well read persons in historical lore, will be captivated with these "Cameos." They are worthy of the fair author, and will add additional lustre to her name.

LOCKLEY HALL. By Alfred Tennyson. With illustrations. Published by Ticknor and Fields, Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis, 93 Wood street, Pittsburgh.

Among the sweet poems of the poet, laureate, and most popular, is "Lockley Hall." This great publishing house are sending out some of the most exquisitely gotten up holiday books offered this season. The dainty volume is a small quarter, elegantly bound, beveled board, and morocco cloth, with elegant gilt tracing on the cover; its pages have a red-line border, and printed on satin paper. The poem itself is full of gems, and is clear and brilliant.

THE FAMILY DOCTOR; or, Mrs. Barry and her Bourbon. Published by Henry Hoyt, Boston. For sale by Booksellers generally.

Rarely have we felt such thrilling interest in reading a work of this character, as in the volume before us. It portrays an evil we fear which stalks in high places, and one too, alarmingly on the increase. Unscrupulous physicians are wont to prescribe stimulants containing "Bourbon," that is more likely to produce results more fearful than the disease sought to cure. The enormous traffic in pure (?) liquors for medical purposes, by prescription druggists, shows too plainly that the evil graphically delineated in this volume, is on the increase. This work was written by a minister's wife, who knows whereof she affirms. No wonder the fair author paints the terrible evil in burning words. We hope the volume will be scattered broadcast through the land.

RURAL HOURS. By a Lady. Published by G. P. Putnam & Son, 661 Broadway, New York, For sale by R. S. Davis, 93 Wood street, Pittsburgh.

The charms of nature are pencilled by one possessed of rare gifts. Few writers are competent to portray the beauties of nature, as will not only attract, but interest and instruct the reader. This has been accomplished by the author of this work. Even trivial things are moulded into such elegant word-painting, that a casual observer would not detect their beauty. The work is written in journal form, covering the four seasons of the year, with here and there charming episodes of historical events, and reflections on topics relating to lessons taught in nature. The volume is handsomely bound.

THE ENTERTAINING STORY OF KING BRONDE. His Lily and his Rosebud. By Anna M. Diaz. With illustrations by W. L. Sheppard. Published by Ticknor & Fields, Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis, Pittsburgh.

This dainty little volume contains "The Flower and the Star," "Willie's Dreams," "Jack and the Bean Stalk," "Another Jack and the Giant Killer," "Grand Mother's Story" and "Kittens' Growlings." It is elegantly illustrated, indeed perfect little gems, appropriate and in good taste. The text reads charmingly, and just such stories as will please the little folks.

THE FLOWER AND THE STAR, AND OTHER STORIES for Children. Written and illustrated by W. J. Linton. Published by Ticknor & Fields, Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis, Pittsburgh.

This book is well named an "Entertaining Story," for it is a charming fairy tale, and cannot fail to interest the little people. Lessons are also taught, and beautifully illustrated, that a loving heart, like the one possessed by little Rosebud, was preferable to beauty or wisdom. Mrs. Diaz has performed a good work, and one, too, that doubtless many a young heart will be profited by the lessons inculcated in this pretty little story.

THREE HUNDRED YEARS AGO; or, The Martyr of Brentwood. By W. H. C. Kingston, Esq. Published by the Lutheran Board of Publication, Philadelphia. For sale by R. S. Davis, Pittsburgh.

The horrors of the persecution, upon persons who had embraced the Reformed faith, are here depicted in graphic words. The main characters, the Clayton family, had adjured the Catholic religion in the time of Queen Mary, and espoused the Protestant cause. They were treated as heretics, and finally the father was arrested and was about to suffer at the stake at Smithfield, when the death of the Queen, and the elevation of Elizabeth to the throne, prevented the execution from taking place. Much may be learned in this little volume of those momentous days.

TOO TRUE. A Story of To-day. Published By G. P. Putnam & Son, New York. For sale by R. S. Davis, Pittsburgh.

There is a vivacity in the style of this charming story, which makes it readable and entertaining. It represents phases of life in New York in admirable style, and the plot is well developed. The incidents, too, appear natural and not strained, as is frequently the case in works of this character. The author's name is not revealed, why we are at a loss to determine, as its authorship reflects credit upon whoever has written the book. It originally appeared as a serial in Putnam's Magazine.

A PRACTICAL INTRODUCTION TO LATIN COMPOSITION. For Schools and Colleges. By Albert Harkness, Ph. D., Professor in Brown University. Author of "A Latin Grammar," "A Latin Reader," "A First Greek Book," etc. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York.

We have here presented in this volume aids of a practical character, with the difficult subject of Latin composition. It aims to be simple, progressive and complete. Students who have acquired some grammatical forms, will be conducted step by step through a series of lessons and exercises, of such an easy grade, until the aid of a special text book is unnecessary. From the examinations we have made of the plan of the work, we think it is worthy of commendation and public favor.

THE INDIAN FAIRY BOOK. From the original legends. By Cornelius Matthews. With illustrations by John McLenan. Engraved by A. V. S. Anthony. Published by Allen Brothers, New York. For sale by J. W. Pittock, corner Fifth Avenue and Smithfield street, Pittsburgh.

These stories are full of interest and delightful reading for the home circle. The same entertainment furnished to the children of the West by the Indian story-letters, recited around the lodge-fires, and under the trees, in their original form, may be found in the perusal of this work. They are much like the Arabian Nights Entertainment, and excite much of the same kind of feeling. The writer has exeeuted the delicate duty well, of re-interpreting and developing these old tales and legends, and the publishers have brought out the book in elegant style.

THE ARTS OF WRITING, READING AND SPEAKING. By Edward W. Cox. Reprinted from the London edition. Published by G. W. Carleton, New York. For sale by J. W. Pittock, Pittsburgh.

Works of this character are valuable aids in the formative periods of life, especially while young persons are acquiring an education. Frequently information, embodied in this work, is lost sight of in the course of studies of educational institutions, or at least the practical part is overlooked. Not only may youthful students be benefitted, by the careful study of the principles taught in this volume, but it will be found useful to persons whose education is defective to help to correct the evils.

LIFE OF MARK M. POMEROY. By Mrs. Mary E. Tucker. Published by G. W. Carleton, New York. For sale by John W. Pittock, Pittsburgh.

This purports to be the life of "Brick" Pomeroy, editor of the Lacrosse, Wis., Democrat, and of the Democrat, daily, New York city. He is represented on the title page as "A Representative Young Man of America." If so, a very bad one, or at least one not worthy to emulate. No doubt Mr. Pomeroy is a man of splendid talents, but they might have been better employed than the manner in which he has spent late years. The book is full of incidents of the humorous type, and characteristic of the man.

SYDINE ADRIANCE; or Trying the World. By Amanda M. Douglas, Author of "In Mist," "Claudia," &c. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis, Pittsburgh.

This clever story is not of the sensational order, and will not diminish the good reputation of the fair author. It is full of stirring incidents, and pictures of life are colored with an artistic skill. The heroine is wooed, but refuses her suitor, becomes a governess, writes a book commenced in prosperous days, succeeds in getting it published, becomes famous, goes to Italy and is made wealthy by a rich relation, and finally marries the man who had formerly wooed her and whom she had refused before. The book ought to be and doubtless will be popular.

A THOUSAND MILES WALK ACROSS SOUTH AMERICA. By Nathaniel H. Bishop. With an introduction by Edward A. Samuels, Esq., author of "Ornithology and Oology of New England," &c. Published by Lee & Shepard, Boston. For sale by R. S. Davis, Pittsburgh.

This is a remarkable book in many respects, and shows what an enterprising youth can do with little means under disheartening circumstances. Young Bishop was only seventeen years of age when he entered upon his difficult undertaking. Praiseworthy as these facts are, the work itself has intrinsic merits, the reader being introduced to the grandeur of the Pampas and the Andes, and of things relating to this interesting country. These "views afoot," give an inside view of many things passed over by the ordinary traveler. Young men will find much to incite them to the duty of the hour.

SERIALS, ANNOUNCEMENTS, ETC.

D. Appleton & Co., of New York, have favored us with "Percivel of the Peak," and "Quentin Durward," of the Waverly Novels. They are elegantly gotten up and cheap. The same house sends us the "Naval Officer," of Maryatt's Works. These popular novels are very cheap.

Carlton, the well known publisher in New York, announces that he will publish "Mayne Reed's Magazine Onward," commencing January 1st, 1869. It will be conducted for the Youth of America. The literature of this magazine is intended to be of the highest character. It will be well illustrated. The first number will appear in time for the Christmas Holidays.

Among the recent publications of the Harper's, heretofore noticed, is "Comer's Navigation," and "Randall's work on Education." Both these works are worthy to occupy a place among books of this character. The latter is especially valuable to all interested in educational circles, and for the broad and generous views of the author' an educator of note in the East.

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

The "Apostles" will commence scraping Smithfield street this morning for the last time this year.

Paving.—The work of paving Carson street and Spring alley, in the Twelfth ward, was commenced yesterday.

Wild Geese are flying southward earlier than usual this year, hence we are to have a hard winter. Just like the geese.

Liberty Street is now paved to Clymer street, in the Twelfth ward, a distance of nine squares, under the new contract.

Fire at Canonsburg.—Monday night the dry house attached to the Chartier's Woolen Factory, was destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $1000.

Queensware of all styles, the best in the market, and at most inducing prices at the warerooms of the Keystone Pottery, S. M. Kier & Co., 303 Liberty street.

The work of laying the twenty-inch water pipe through the Fifteenth and Seventeenth wards, is progressing favorably. It now extends beyond the Arsenal, on Butler street.

Dealers who buy queensware and Bristol ware to sell again are reminded that they can purchase to best advantage at the Keystone Pottery of S. M. Kier & Co., No. 303 Liberty street.

Rare Chance to Buy Real Estate.—On Our fifth page will be found an advertisement of an elegant residence for sale. This property can be bought very low. For particulars, see advertisement.

Lively.—The liquor dealers are having a lively time in litigation. Yesterday, Wm. Einstein made information before Alderman Lindsay, charging Thomas Smith with barratry, upon which a warrant was issued.

Street Commissioner M'Fadden is repairing Fifth avenue (formerly Pennsylvania avenue.) The Street Committee have ordered the work to be done and the expense to be charged to the Oakland Passenger Railway Company.

Adjourned.—The General Assembly of the Lutheran Church, adjourned its session on Wednesday afternoon to convene in Chicago, November 4th, 1869, as the guests of the Sweedish Lutheran Church and the "Church of Mercy."

Violent Threats.—John Neil made information before Alderman Taylor yesterday against John Merken for surety of the peace, alleging that the said Merken threatened him with severe violence. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

Hearing Waived.—James Brown, charged on oath of Bernard Gray with barratry, was to have had a hearing before Alderman Lindsay on Wednesday afternoon, but after the examination of Mr. Gray the defendant waived a hearing and entered bail for Court,

Winter Schedule.—The Pennsylvania Railroad will commence running on their winter schedule on Monday, the most important feature of the change being that the day express will connect at Mantua, making the train through to New York from the West each day.

How Easy.—Put 13¾ cents per day, at compound interest, and in one year it will amount to $50; ten years, $650; twenty years, $1,860; thirty years, $3,940; forty years, $7,700; fifty years, $14,600. There is not a newsboy in the city but could do much better if he would so resolve.

Connellsville Railroad—Change of Time.—A change of time of the arrival of the trains on the Connellsville Railroad went into effect on Tuesday last. The first McKeesport accommodation train arrives in the city at 6:45 A. M. instead of 6:40. The Express train arrives at 10:10 A. M. instead of 10 o'clock as heretofore.

Time Changed.—The Committee on inspection of sites for the contemplated Allegheny City Poor Farm, will meet at the Federal street depot of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad, in time to take the 9 A. M. train instead of the 7 A. M. as originally intended. The change was made to accommodate those who could not be present in time for the early train.

Masonic Dedication.—The new Masonic Hall, which has just been completed at East Liberty, for the use of Hailman Lodge No. 321, was formally dedicated yesterday by the officers of the Grand Lodge, who are now on an official visit to this city. The ceremonies were of an interesting and imposing character, and were participated in by a large number of the fraternity in this vicinity.

Absconding Apprentices.—M. G. Kaufman, a barberdoing business at 395, Penn street, made information yesterday before Alderman Taylor against John Walls and Frank Zellar, for obsconding. The defendants were indentured apprentices to the defendant, and he alleges that a few days since they left his service and refused to reiurn. The accused were arrested and held for a hearing.

Had Her Revenge.—Michael Cummings alleges that Mary Burke, having for some unknown reason a spite against him, revengrd herself yesterday by treating him to an involuntary immersion from the contents of a wash bowl, and ended the performance by throwing the bowl with vindictive force against his head, causing a sensation of dizziness and other unpleasant feelings around that important part of his body. A warrant was issued by Alderman Taylor for the arrest of the revengeful female.

Aggravated Assault.—John Saulsman, keeper of a saloon on Rebecca street, Allegheny, was charged before Alderman McMasters yesterday with aggravated assault and battery on oath of Bernard Lafferty and Patrick Kearney. The deponents allege that they went into the saloon on Wednesday evening and called for a drink, and after drinking several times they were sitting there quietly when the defendants came from behind the bar, and without the slightest provocation attacked them with a handy billy and abused them severely. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

Newspaper Change.—The Evening Mail has undergone a change in proprietorship, Mr. Charles M. Gearing purchasing the half interest held by Dr. Young. The paper will hereafter be conducted by Messrs. Campbell & Gearing. The former gentleman will continue to preside over the editorial department, while Mr. Gearing will assume the business management of the paper. The new firm have our heartiest wishes for their success, and in welcoming Mr. Gearing into the profession we feel assured that he will prove an ornament to it and contribute largely towards the prosperity of the enterprising journal with which he has connected himself.

A Pleasant Affair.—The second annual reunion soiree of the Union Charity Club, held on Wednesday evening last, at Lafayette Hall, was in keeping with the brilliant occasion of last year under the same auspices. The attendance was very large, select and fashionable. Every one of the throng of guests expressed satisfaction with the manner the affair was conducted, and there is a strong pressure being brought to bear on the Club to repeat the ball before the present season closes. The supper was well managed and the music excellent. As caterers to enjoyment the gentlemen of the Union Charity Club are making rapid inroads into the favor and confidence of the people, and anything under their management must prove eminently successful.

JOLLIFICATION.

Grand Barbecue at Mansfield—Large Turnout—The Speeches—Payment of a Bet.

The Republicans of Scott, Robinson and North and South Fayette townships were made exceedingly jubilant and happy by the results of the third of November election. These feelings one would naturally expect to calm down as time rolled on, but instead, gradually they have been rising in intensity and fervor, until yesterday, when the culmination was reached by a grand barbecue and general jollification.

When the affair was first decided upon, the making of all necessary arrangments was entrusted to a competent committee, which discharged its duty so well that, during the entire day not a single cause for complaint could be made, and all passed off in a manner at once harmonious, and satisfactory to every person in attendance.

Invitations to participate had been issued to the Republicans of other districts throughout the county, and accordingly at the proper time the streets of the pleasant little village of Mansfield, which had been selected as the scene for the celebration, were crowded with delegations from Pittsburgh, Birmingham, Noblestown and other places, all of whom entered with as much zest into the enjoyment of the occasion as those, through whose exertions it had been provided.

The delegation from Pittsbugh, numbering about one hundred persons, among whom were members of the State Legislature, county officials and prominent politicians, accompanied by the Iron City Brass Band, took the 11 A. M. train on the Panhandle Railroad, and arrived at their destination in a short time, where they found gathered a large company of kindred souls, all drawn thither for the same purpose. After spending about an hour in social intercourse, extending mutual congratulations and rejoicings, which served to make the time pass swiftly and pleasantly by, the feast was announced. A keen bracing air united to a somewhat protracted fast, and the appetizing odors issuing from a rare and juicy ox which had been slowly roasting over a glowing fire, had the effect of increasing the appreciation which those assembled at the call had for a rich, tender and savory repast, and, when the welcome summons came, with that alacrity which only a hungry individual can put forth they gathered around the festive board. The company, after fully satisfying the cravings of the inner man, withdrew from the table and effected an organization by calling Hon. Russell Errett to the chair, and appointing Samuel D. Porter, Esq., as Secretary, and then ensued the "feast of reason and the flow of soul." Witty, eloquent and pertinent speeches were made by Hon. Thomas Howard, of Pittsburgh, and Hon. Dr. Hill, member of the Ohio State Legislature, who congratulated the attendant representatives of the Republican masses upon the glorious victory which had been achieved through their fidelity, patriotism and adherence to those living principles upon which hung the existence of the Republic. The speeches of both gentlemen were quite lengthy and closed by predicting for the nation a glorious future of prosperity, happiness and power, under the wise and just administration of the soldier and the statesman Grant and Colfax.

The programme was now changed, and the company had the pleasure of witnessing some fine exhibitions of speed from a number of spirited chargers, which had couveyed the guests to the grounds. This entertainment was quite a feature of the day, and seemed to be highly enjoyed by all present.

The event of the occasion, however, (of course, excepting the feast,) was the payment of the wheelbarrow bet between Messrs. Eli Wykoff, Republican, and Joe Hitchings, Democrat. The bet was on the election, and as that event resulted unfavorably to the Democracy, according to the terms of the agreement, Mr. Hitchings was required to wheel his Republican opponent from Wykoff's Hotel to Brown's house and back again.

At the appointed time the vehicle was brought forth and filled with the fragile form of the winner of the bet, while the loser, manning the handles, took up the line of march. Time, however, would fail us in describing all the witticisms, the laughter, the cheers and bantering enconragement which the defeated but determined wheeler was greeted with along the course; nor how the delighted occupant of the vehicle was affectionately, inquired of in regard to the comforts of his seat, respectfully admonished to take it easy, to sit still, to take it for granted, and numerous other inquiries and admonitions, all of which, are they not chronicled in the memory of every participant and spectator who by turns shouted and cheered and shook with laughter?

Let it suffice for us to say that the bet was paid; and of all merry, jovial throngs its witnesses would not by any means take second rank.

And so the glorification was brought to a close. Victorious Republicanism had given vent to its feelings and with exultant cheers for its noble standard bearers, the jubilee was over.

At the conclusion of the feast, the Birmingham delegation was presented, by the unanimous consent of all, with the head of the ox, and consequently they may be said to have carried off the horns. Neither the donors or recipients attempted to make addresses. They were too full for utterance, and the gift was wisely given and received in silence.

Mrs. Fannie Kemble.

One of the most select, fashionable and appreciative audiences which we have ever seen, assembled last evening in Lafayette Hall, on the occasion of Mrs. Fannie Kemble's first Shakesperian reading in our city. "Julius Cæsar," the selection chosen by the gifted lady, was one well calculated to call into action all her genius and culture, and to say that she fully sustained her world wide reputation is awarding the highest meed of praise. Her rendering of some of the most difficult passages, such as the interview of Portia with Brutus, the speeches of Brutus and Antony over the dead body of Cæsar, the interview of Cassius and Brutus at Sardis, and the death of Brutus, were all inexpressibly grand and wonderful displays of her power. A remarkable evidence of her skill was seen in the intense interest which seemed to infuse itself into her auditors. Throughout the whole of the reading, occupying nearly two hours, every eye seemed to be fixed upon the reader and every ear eagerly bent forward to catch the sentences as they fell from her lips, and the silence, broken once or twice by applause, was such that at times it became almost painful. We were sorry, however, to see that the audience, though of a first-class order as regards intelligence and appreciation, was not such a one as the entertainment should receive, which, however, was no doubt influenced by the lecture attraction in another part of the city.

The selection for this evening is "The Merry Wives of Windsor," and as there will be no drawback, such as that referred to, we expect to see the hall crowded, as an expression of the feelings with which rare genius and literary culture is regarded in our vicinity. Secured seats may be obtained at Mellor's, No. 81 Wood street.

Explosion.

A slight explosion occurred at the Fire Alarm Telegraph Office, yesterday, but no serious damage was done. John "Goose," the janitor, it appears had a pipe, which he was in the habit of smoking, to the great annoyance of the employees of the office, and some mischievous person filled it with power, and putting a little tobacco on top of the charge, replaced the pipe. At the opening of Court Judge Sterrett charged the jury in the case of the Commonwealth vs. William B. Hollis, indicted for obtaining money under false pretences, reported on trial yesterday. The jury retired, and had not returned a verdict when court adjourned.

THE EAST LIBERTY RAPE CASE.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Milton Cline indicted with assault and battery, with intent to commit a rape, Emma McFadden, the prosecutrix, was then taken up. The offence was alleged to have been committed on the Third of August last, at East Liberty, at which time it is stated that the accused committed an assault and battery upon the prosecutrix by taking improper liberties with her. The witnesses for the Commonwealth examined and the defense offered some testimony but on account of the absence of an important witness, the defense refused to proceed with the case, and there being no other cases ready, court adjourned till nine o'clock this morning.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

The Court of Common Pleas met at ten o'clock, yesterday morning, Judge Stowe on the bench. The following business was transacted:

In the case of Joseph Wolsencroft vs. Sigismund Goldstein, reported yesterday, the jury found a verdict for the plantiff in the sum of three hundred dollars.

The next case taken up was that of Wurisell & Co., vs. Wm. Duckham. This was a trire facias on a mechanic's lien. The jury returned a verdict for the plaintiffs in the sum of $399.11.

W. S. Purviance and John Taylor, Esqs., attorneys for Henry Farnan and other creditors of the International Co-operative Foundry Association of Pittsburgh, filed a bill in equity, and applied for a preliminary injunction restraining the respondents from removing the engine and other appurtenances from the establishment. The complainants aver that mechanics' liens have been filed against the building and machinery of the association to the amount of $2,300, which remain unsatisfied. They further aver that the respondents have sold the machinery to Messrs. Wolfe & Co., and that the latter are now engaged in tearing down and removing the same. The court granted a special preliminary injunction restraining the respondents from removing the materials named until further order of the Court. Court adjourned.

TRIAL LIST FOR TO-DAY.

Unpleasant Interruption.

William Trainor states that he was pensively wending his way along Eagle street, the main thoroughfare of Hardscrabble, admiring the beauties of the surrounding scenery, when his musings were suddenly turned in a different direction by the unmusical voice and still more unmusical language which issued from the hebe-like mouth of Mrs. Hannah Ruse and fell like the melody of a midnight caterwaul upon his refined and sensitive auricles. Upon turning round William discovered that he was the objective point and cause of the sudden outburst, and upon paying still closer attention he quickly became aware that his character, dearer to him than the apple of his eye, was undergoing a severe test in the crucible of the lady's severest citneical imagination, the summing up of which led him to belive if all were true, that he was the vilest of the vile. Dismayed, downcast, disheartened he sought the friendly aid and consolation of that sympathetic official, Alderman Strain, who poured the oil of gladness upon his wounded feelings by arresting the lady on a charge of disorderly conduct, upon which she is held for a further hearing.

Man Drowned.

The body of Michael Giltrie, who was drowned Monday evening in the Monongahela river, near O'Neil's coal works, was recovered Wednesday, and Coroner Clawson held an inquest upon it. It appeared in the testimony that the last seen of deceased while alive, was a little after eight o'clock on Monday evening, when he bought a quart of whisky at the store boat of Thomas Devile, and went ashore. He was considerably intoxicated at the time and had been so for a day or two. The jury found a verdict to the effect that deceased came to his death while under the influence of liquor by drowning in the Monongahela river, on the evening of Monday, November 16th, and that said liquor was obtained from Thomas Devile. Deceased was a native of Ireland, unmarried, and about thirty years of age.

Fire in the Twelfth Ward.

About seven o'clock last night an alarm of fire was received at the Central office from box 62, Independence Engine House, occasioned by a fire on Mulberry alley, between Twenty-fourth and Twenth-fifth streets. The fire originated in a frame stable owned by George Lenkner, a grocer, it is supposed from some of the men employed about the stable having gone in it with a lamp. The stable and a lot of hay and feed which were in it when the fire broke out, was totaly destroyed. The fire communicated to a brick stable adjoining, owned by Griffith Clark, the roof of which was burned.

The Fire Department were prompt in answering the alarm, and in a few moments after arriving on the ground, succeeded in subduing the flames. The loss will not exceed eight hundred dollars.

Burglary.—A daring burglary was perpetrated in Canfield, Mahoning county, Ohio, Wednesday night. The burglars broke open the outer door of the safe of the County Treasury, in which there was about one thousand dollars. It is not yet known whether they succeeded in getting the money or not, as the inner door could not be opened yesterday morning. Mr. John R. Tinerdale, the County Treasurer, came to this city yesterday to have Messrs. Burke & Barnes, from whom the safe was originally purchased, go out and examine it, and, if possible, open the inner door. It is probable that the burglars did not get the inner door open.

Mark Twain at the Academy.

Mark Twain, poet as well as humorist, lectured last evening at the Academy under the auspices of the Young Men's Mercantile Library Association, before one of the largest and most intelligent audiences ever assembled in our city. The humorist is a pleasing talker and puts just enough jest into his composition to make it pleasing and palatable. He does not fall into the error of those who have taken the lecture field to amuse rather than instruct an audience, of extravagant joking or straining of words to make sentences appear funny. There is no extravagance about Mark Twain's style, and yet he is entitled above all living men to the name of American humorist. In his writings, as well as his lecture, he is dignified, using the choicest of words and plenty of them. Nor does he bring to bear facial contortions, or awkward movement or gesture to impress his hearers with the funny qualities which enter so largely into his organization. As calm, self-possessed, graceful and easy before the foot-lights as Wendell Phillips, his rival as a humorist, but of another school, however, Mark Twain, with no affectation, no unbecoming effort to excite the risibility of his audience, succeeds at times in convulsing with laughter the veriest cynic before him. While the lecture last evening was characteristic of Twain, it also abounded here and there with specimens of word-painting and flights of true eloquence which, coming wholly unexpected, moved and thrilled all present. The transition from humorous sketching to deep description was easy and rapid, and the lecturer kept the audience in varying emotion from the time he was introduced by Captain Jennings, till he quitted the rostrum, bidding good night to his audience.

Here is a gem of description interwoven into the lecture which excited a burst of admiration as it fell upon the ears of the listeners, and one which will give the reader some idea of the versatility of the great humorist. Speaking of the mysterious sphynx, he said:

"The great face was so sad, so earnest, so longing, so patient. There was a dignity not of earth in its mien, and in its countenance a benignity such as never anything human wore. It was stone, but it seemed sentiment! If ever image of stone thought, it was thinking. It was looking toward the verge of the landscape, but looking at nothing—nothing but distance and vacancy. It was looking over and beyond everything of the Present, and far into the Past. It was gazing over the ocean of Time—over lines of century—waves, which, further and further receding, closed nearer and nearer together, and blended at last into one unbroken tide, away toward the horizon of a remote antiquity.

"It was thinking of the wars of departed ages—of the empires it had seen created and destroyed—of the nations whose birth it had witnessed, whose progress it had watched, whose annihilation it had noted—of the joy and sorrow, the life and death, the grandeur and decay, of five thousand slow-revolving years.

"It was the type of an attribute of man—of a faculty of his heart and brain. It was MEMORY—RETROSPECTION—wrought into visible, tangible form. All who know the pathos there is in memories of days that are accomplished and faces that have vanished—albeit only a trifling score of years gone by, will have some appreciation of the pathos that dwells in the grave eyes that look so steadfastly back upon the things they knew before History was born—before Tradition had being—things that were and forms that moved, in a vague era that even Poetry and Romance scarce know of—and passed one by one away and left the stony dreamer solitary in the midst of a strange, new age and uncomprehended scenes!

"The Sphynx is grand in its loneliness; it is imposing in its magnitude; it is impressive in the mystery which hangs over its story. There is that in the overshadowing majesty of this eternal figure of stone, with its accusing memory of the deeds of all ages, that reveals to one something of what he shall feel when he stands at last in the awful presence of God!"

We have to thank the energetic Library Committee for the rare intellectual treat afforded our people last evening, in bringing hither Mark Twain, and trust that his services may again be secured at the rostrum on some future occasion.

Fallen Women—"Homes"—Remedy for Social Evils.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The restoration of "fallen women" is exciting much interest in England and America, and I know of no more worthy object, for certainly no class need sympathy and aid more, and receive so little.

But still these "homes for the fallen," good and holy as they are, do not cure the evil. They do not remove the cause of prostitution, which in a great degree is the result of ignorance and pride on the part of parents, who aim at giving their sons practical educations, but for their daughters, while they may lavish much upon the mere accomplishments, they do but little in a practical education, under the false idea that such an education is unnecessary for girls, as it is taken for granted that they are not to provide a living for themselves. But this is a most unwise conclusion for these natural protectors. Their fathers and husbands fail in business, or fail in health, and in various ways are rendered incapable of providing for their families.

Then we ask what is to become of the female portion in their ignorance and inability to labor? They must live, and if they cannot live honorably they must live dishonorably. Parents, if you wish to make sure of the honor and happiness of your daughters, give them some practical education you give your sons, including a knowledge of some art or profession, and the right to vote—then, and not until then, will the house of prostitution be closed, and Homes for Fallen Women rendered unnecessary—then the traffic in intoxicating liquors cease—the gambling hell be closed, and the remedy for the alarming and rapidly increasing social evils of our day be found. LAWRENCEVILLE, Nov. 19.

Murder in Clearfield County.

Thursday of last week David Ball and Job Snease, lumberman, residing in Clearfield county, got into an altercation, which resulted in the former stabbing the latter through the heart, killing him instantly. The circumstance is related as follows: Ball and Snease were down the river last spring with lumber, and were on their return by railroad when Snease became intoxicated, and Ball assisted the conductor to put him off the train. Snease swore revenge, threatening that if he ever met Ball he would whip him. They did not come together till Thursday last, when they met at a public sale near Glen Hope. Ball, who had heard Snease's threats, called him aside to explain his conduct on the train; but as soon as the subject was introduced, Snease struck Ball, and a fight ensued. They were parted, and the latter to avoid a second encounter, attempted to go away. Snease followed him, throwing stones at him. At this juncture, a third party named Baer, gave Ball a knife and told him to defend himself. Ball immediately rushed upon Snease with the weapon and stabbed him through the heart. Ball and Baer were arrested. The deceased leaves a wife and four small children.

The Art of Glass Staining.

Of all the arts brought into requisition by mankind for the adornment of public and private residences, perhaps none is less understood than the art of Glass Staining. The true history of the origin of the art, like the origin of Glass making, is unknown. For years the world has accepted the story of the shipwrecked sailors of Tyre, and received unquestioned the tales told of Venetian Glass Staining, but modern research has destroyed the last fragment upon which they rested. Various specimens of stained and enameled Glass are to be found in the art cabinets and museums of Europe that, up to the present day, defy imitation. Even the art of producing the colors these specimens embrace has been lost. Each artist made his own colors, pursuing his studies in secret, like the painters, and their art died with them.

One of the commonest errors concerning stained glass is the supposition that what is termed stained glass is merely painted glass. The manner in which the various tints and colors are produced is scarcely less wonderful than the changes which mark the various steps in the transformation of the caterpillar into a beautiful butterfly. All the colors we see in stained glass are made from the oxides of various metals. Gold and silver is largely employed in the art. The nicety of the color depends upon the length of time the sheets are subjected to the heat, and in the different degrees of its intensity, since the colors obtained in the glass are burned into, and, in reality, become a part of it, hence it is impossible for it to fade. The stained glass in the famous cathedrals of Europe retains precisely the same color to-day that pleased the eye of those who worshipped in them five hundred years ago. It will be seen from this that the difference between stained and painted glass is as different as any two things that can be conceived.

A single firm in this city have devoted their attention to the task of revolutionizing the business as it has been conducted heretofore in this country. Up to a recent date glass staining in America has been limited to the operations of parties whose facilities were necessarily limited. They obtained their material from the manufacturer, and were unable to produce any considerable amount of work even under the most favorable circumstances. The manufacturer, on the other hand, has provided to his hand extraordinary facilities for producing an article equally as good as that produced by the small dealer, if not superior. Messrs. Page, Zellers & Duff, the firm in question, have been largely engaged in glass manufacturing. Imitating one of the most successful glass manufacturing and glass staining firms in England, they combined the business of glass staining and enameling with glass making. Their works were constructed with extraordinary care; their flattening ovens being built upon a method that insures perfect work, while the process of flattening adopted by them is such as to produce a perfectly level, clear, crystal sheet, exhibiting a high polish. Here then they have a basis for a superior article of stained, enameled or ground glass. The outer surface of the stained glass manufactured by this firm, unlike the greater portion of the stained glass we have examined, is perfectly smooth, retaining the high polish secured in the flattening oven. Their facilities enable them to furnish new and rare designs to order upon short notice. Special patterns of every sort, plain or elaborate, furnished to parties interested in church buildings, halls, school-houses and all kind of public buildings. The work produced by the firm requires no endorsement; it speaks for itself.

Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Notwithstanding the many attractions in the way of amusements, last evening the Opera House was filled as usual since the arrival of the inimitable Chanfrau. "Sam" was reproduced, and with each succeeding performance an improvement is noticeable. "Sam" will be repeated to-night.

PITTSBURGH THEATRE.—The improvements and repairs at the Old Theatre are progressing rapidly and will be completed to-day, and the grand re-opening will without fail take place on Monday evening. Miss Kate Fisher and the greater portion of the new company from New York, are expected to arrive to-day, and the others will be here to-morrow in time for rehearsal.

TRIMBLES VARIETIES.—As usual, there were no empty chairs at the Varieties last night. No matter what the attractions are elsewhere, Manager Williams is sure to have something on hand to draw a crowd and give them a good entertainment. The company at this establishment is a most excellent one, and the fun loving portion of our community know it.

MUSEUM.—Major Burnell is doing a thriving business with his museum at Franklin Hall. The enterprise and energy he has displayed in collecting curiosities, in order to have a first-class museum, are highly commendable and deserving the highest praise, and we are gratified to know that the public are evincing an appreciation of his efforts by a liberal patronage.

Petroleum Items.

The production of one of the wells recently struck on the Hess Farm, Cherrytree Run has increased, and is now between thirty and forty barrels per day.

Two wells lately struck on the Smith Farm, Lower Cherry Run, are each producing from fifteen to twenty barrels per day.

Two wells are being tested on the Woods Farm, with good prospects.

About one mile south of Titusville two test wells are being drilled near the Miller Farm road. One of them has reached a depth of four hundred feet.

Within the last six weeks about fifteen wells were completed on Cherrytree Run. They were epected to determine the course of the oil vein from the Vera and Blake well, but as they all turned out to be small producing when tested, some of the operators in the vicinity are inclining to the belief that the vein stops near the Run. There are now several wells being drilled to the south of the Run, and when they are completed additional light will be thrown on the subject.

A Sport.

The following dialogue, which took place yesterday in a street car on the Birmingham road, is too good to be lost:

One of a couple of teutonic gentlemen sitting in one end of the car, seeing a "flashy" dressed fellow come in and take his seat at a opposite end from where they were sitting, asked:

"Who ish dat, Hans?"

"Oh dat ish a shport."

"Vat you call a shport, aye?"

"You not know vat a shport is, aye?"

"No! vat ish he?"

"Val, he is one of der fellers vat shave all de hair off a pig, and cover him all over with soap, and den bet a green dutchman five dollars he can't catch him."
